Burkeville High School Belief Statement

Burkeville ISD believes that the best philosophy of education is expressed by objectives that can be evaluated and communicated. Our school district dedicates itself to the concept that each individual is a unique personality capable of developing spiritual and moral values. It is further believed that each individual is capable of experiencing success and acquiring enthusiasm in the following ways.

Intellectual - the ability to think and act logically and constructively while critically reasoning independently;

Social - a belief in the dignity and worth of each person, and understanding of the common needs of people, and appreciation of American citizenship with its individual freedoms and responsibilities;

Physical - progress in health and environment and an understanding of appropriate and efficient use of time;

Economic and Occupational Competence - training that is broad in scope, yet flexible in content.

Therefore, our philosophy is a belief that excellence in education is best achieved by maintaining high standards for discipline, by providing staff, faculty, and facilities of the highest quality and by providing standards of testing and counseling that will allow individuals to make decisions that will favorably impact their lives.

Criteria for Identification of Students in At-Risk Situations

Under local policies, districts may add local criteria to those listed in Texas Education Code Section 29.081. For example, a district may implement local criteria in order to include other students that may fall below grade level because of extenuating circumstances, such as students residing in a homeless shelter or a shelter for battered women. In order to appropriately charge to the state compensatory education allotment supplemental costs for services provided to children identified under local criteria, a district should be able to explain that children identified under local criteria were added to a listing of children that were identified under Texas Education Code Section 29.081. This means that the state compensatory education allotment may not be used to serve students on a particular campus under local criteria, if a district has not identified any students on the same campus that meet any of the criteria in Texas Education Code Section 29.081.

Some judgment is involved when applying local criteria. The larger the proportion of students identified under local criteria in comparison to students meeting the criteria in Texas Education Code Section 29.081, then it will be more difficult to defend the use of local criteria. If local criteria appear to involve more than an incidental benefit to other students then there would be an adverse consequence to students in at-risk situations meeting the criteria in Texas Education Code Section 29.081.

Students in at-risk situations reported through PEIMS must meet the state criteria. Although districts may use additional local criteria to identify students in at-risk situations, but students identified using local criteria are not to be reported on PEIMS.
